UWOFA-LA and Western administration reach tentative agreement

UWOFA is pleased to announce that your negotiating team and the university administration have reached a tentative collective agreement for librarians and archivists.

The tentative deal was reached on Friday, November 6 after two days of conciliation with Greg Long, a Ministry of Labour appointed conciliator.

“I want to thank the negotiating team for all their hard work and commitment. They did a great job on behalf of our members. And I’m very thankful to our members for their support of the team,” said UWOFA president Kristin Hoffmann.

More information will be provided at a yet to be scheduled membership meeting. A date for the ratification vote has yet to be determined.
